DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-18, drawn to arrays comprising a plurality of microchannels, classified in class 435, subclass 7.24, for example.
 - II. Claims 19-25, drawn to methods for using an array of microchannels for calculating physical characteristics of a cell, classified in class 435, subclass 7.21, for example.
 - III. Claim 26, drawn to a method for using an array of microchannels for observing the transit time of passing a cell through a plurality of microchannels, classified in class 435, subclass 7.32, for example.
 - IV. Claims 27-45, drawn to methods for fabricating an array of microchannels from a substrate, classified in class 435, subclass 4, for example.
2. Claim 46 is objected to because it is drawn to "an array produced by the process of claim 26", however, claim 26 is drawn to "a method for using an array of microchannels", not a to a method of producing an array.
3. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:
 - A) Inventions I and (II and III) are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case, the array of Group I can be used in materially different methods, such as for calculating physical characteristics of a cell, observing the transit time of passing a cell through a plurality of microchannels or for studying how well a cell responds to repeated extreme shape changes.

B) Inventions I and IV are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case, the product can be made in materially different methods, such as a methods using semiconductor or photoelectrochemical etching procedures.

C) Inventions II-IV are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case, the inventions are directed to methods having different method steps, starting materials, and goals.

4. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a different status in the art as demonstrated by their different classification and recognized divergent subject matter and because inventions I-IV require different searches that are not co-extensive, examination of these distinct inventions would pose a serious burden on the examiner and therefore restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

5. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

6. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 C.F.R. § 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a diligently-filed petition under 37 C.F.R. § 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 C.F.R. § 1.17(h).
